Elias` Emoji Story

One beautiful sunny morning, a very lucky person was surprised by tree cutting works and so he decided to watch the film: " Robin Hood " with his family. Robin fought against the king and brought the money to the poor people. The family liked the film very much and they were all excited about it.

Empire State Building

Today I visited the Empire State Building. I've always dreamt about going there one day - now, my dream came true. It was very interesting and I learned a lot. But I think the best part part of it was the view! I was really impressed when I was on the 86th floor, but then they told me, that we could go up to the 102nd floor, and of course we did! It was worth going up there, the view was breathtaking! ... more

Jonas Dear CMP-Group,

last year I bought shoes from you to and looked forward to go hiking with those but after the first few days the sole exit the one shoe and I had to fix it with glue. It would be very nice if you could send me a new pair because I can't agree to buying a pair of shoes, wearing them two days and than have to fix them because they broke. Also it isn't very save because you can strumble and , fal down and broke something. I hope you quickly answer my post and we can find a solution everyone agrees.

Zeoob My holidays were very bad: 😞

After we were flight to Canada, there wasn't any taxi for us and we had to search 15 minutes untile we found a taxi which could drive us to our hotel. At our hotel we were surprised because we the hotel was very poor quality. Although I told you that we want two rooms There was only one for us. We were five people and had to sleep in three not very big beds and this wasn't avery comfortable. In the morning i was a surprise that at least the food was worth the prize. Than after we ait we wanted to go to the beach but as we were there we had to search very long untile we found at least one free seat because the beach was crowded. You could not play any game with the ball or build sand castles because everywhere were people.

Klasse 8 - online ratings

Online ratings

12 Talk about ratings

- Give reasons why so many people go online to rate things, e.g. films or restaurants.
- Think of your own experience: What makes a rating helpful? What doesn't?
- Can you trust ratings? Give and explain your opinion.

Matt's Burger & Co
 ★★★★★ 266 ratings
 $$-$$, American (Traditional and New)
Read more

13 Two films about space

- Read the two summaries below and compare the two films.

Capricorn One (1978)
 Imagine that the greatest moment in space exploration never happened! The NASA engineers on the Mars space program are unable to land their astronauts on the red planet. So they decide to fake the first Mars landing before the US government ends the expensive Mars program. Will NASA be able to stage the greatest hoax of all time?

The Martian (2015)
 What do you do all alone on Mars, millions and millions of miles from home? After a journey to Mars goes terribly wrong, astronaut Mark Watney (Matt Damon) is left alone to die on the red planet. Can he find a way to survive? What options are there in such a hostile environment? Will NASA even try to rescue Watney?

- Read the two ratings from a website for film fans. Say how positive or negative each one is for its film and how you can tell. Compare the criteria each rating is based on.

A Overall, this is a pretty good film. The plot and the acting are convincing, in my opinion. There's well-written dialogue too. But to be honest, it's a bit disappointing. I think I would have enjoyed the movie much more if I'd seen it when it was new. Back then, there weren't that many movies about space or conspiracy theories. But now there are so many great space movies. ★★ ★

B This is about as good as a film can get, if you ask me! As if the breathtaking visuals weren't already enough, Matt Damon has given one of his very best performances. Best of all: It's a strong, believable plot, a perfect combination of science, suspense, the power of friendship and BIG emotions. You really feel how lost and lonely a person can be. Excellent! ★★★★★

Explain which rating motivates you more to watch the film. Give reasons.

14 Characteristics of ratings → WB 22/3-4

Writing skills

When you rate a film (or book), think about these points:

- Structure your rating in categories. A rating doesn't need to be a complete review. You may concentrate on what is most important to you, e.g. the acting | the plot | the special effects.
- You don't need to write a summary of the film's plot; usually there's one on the rating website already. Concentrate on your opinion.
- Explain what you like or don't like, but always be fair. It isn't necessary to make rude comments.
- Words and phrases from other people's ratings can be very useful to help you to express your ideas. Examples from Ex. 13: breathtaking visuals; well-written dialogue.
- Use the simple present to describe action and scenes (When the story begins ...; The main character never knows ... etc.).

→ Δ 119/3

- Read the points in the skills box above. Then go back to the two ratings in Ex. 13. Find examples of points 1-4 and put them in a grid. (For point 4, you might find phrases in the box on the right to add to your grid.)
- Your turn: In a group of 3-4, choose a film that all of you have recently seen. You each write a short rating (6-8 sentences) for it. Then peer-edit each other's texts. Say whose rating you like best and why.

→ S9, 16

Useful phrases

convincing characters | well-written/badly-written dialogue | good performance / one of his/her best performances | great/disappointing actors/acting | silly/weak/creative/believable/... plot | In my opinion ... | If you ask me ...

15 Writing options → WB 23/5, 24/6

→ S9-11, 24

Option A: Write your own wiki text

- Some people believe that aliens have really landed on Earth, e.g. in Roswell, New Mexico!
- As a group, find one example of a UFO sighting and do research on different websites about it.
 - In your group, write your own wiki text about your subject. Decide what sections your wiki text will need and divide the work up so that everyone has the same amount of work.
 - Choose a suitable way of presenting your text (you may use digital tools).

Option B: Write a restaurant rating

- Imagine you're working on a restaurant guide for your town.
- Form a group of classmates who have been to the same restaurant recently.
 - Get information about the restaurant online, if possible, and look at ratings for other restaurants for useful words and phrases.
 - Each of you writes a rating of the restaurant. Don't forget to add a number of stars from 1 to 5 to your rating! Then peer-edit each other's texts.
 - When the ratings are finished, present them as a wall display for your classroom.

maria In my opinion the film is very funny and the actors did a good job. The film may be old but it's still entertaining. I think the acting is good, but sometimes the performer exaggerate a bit. If suddenly something happens, they react a bit strange. For example when doc Brown disappears, Marty stars at the ground and after a couple of seconds he grimaces. The plot is not bad, but in the second and third movie it's quite the same, so in my view it wears off. The setting may change, but it's always the some story Marty and Doc Brown are time travelling and try to go back to their time. The special effects are good, even tough the movie is from 1985. Compared to new films they not as good as their special effects are, but also not bad. To sum it up, I think you should watch it, but if you don't like the first movie, you shouldn't watch the second and third one.

Callian Overall it's a very great space movie, with happyniss and very much sadniss. I think that is because of the best performances from Matthew Mc Conaughe and Anna Halthaway that show use how dangeris Space is, how sad it is to say goodbye, how the live in space is, what people can do when they are alone and it' abacet frinds But it even more worve if you knew that this could be also so in our world if we don't pay attention to our word. In this movie are many Physik theoris, that I never heard befor, that's very interesting. bat's its the most complicatel monie I've ever watched . There are so many difficult Theoris in this movie, that I often needed to stop to comprain it. But after and watching the movie again reserching a It's very nice in someponts the movie is very boring because

Sarah I like the movie, because Walk. Ride. Rodeo. is an inspirational tale based on the true story of Amberley Snyder (Spencer Locke). She is a young woman (19) which loved to ride and after a car accident she lost the use of her legs. She doesn't gave up and I think that's great and in sprayed other people in the same situation. I think it's important how to deal with life-changes and that your life, no matter what happened. The relationship between her and her mother is very important in my opinion. I think the scene, which shows the main character's face covered in blood and the her caught up in a barb wired fence, is the only scene they can be disturbing for Kids. ... more

Leonhahaha At First, the book seems pretty boring, but some scenes in the finale of the story are brilliant. It's so exciting to read, that you can hang on reading it and you go to bed. After I finished reading the first book, I instantly ordered the second and third one. In my opinion, the autor did a great job. If you look at the way the book is formulated, you see how much effort was put in writing it, so that it's more and more exciting to read. The styl the book is written in is very easy to understand and it's very well thought trough. The characters in the story are described good , because reading should be even more fun. So if you're thinking of buying it, its defasitly worth a try! ... more

Isabella.Beer "James Bond no Time to Die" is a very good movie in my opinion. Daniel Craig, who plays James Bond for the fifth time in 25 James Bond films, has performed very well. The film is about an ex-agent who has an exciting mission in which he has to destroy a poison that only kills people with certain genes and can be spread with just one touch. The acting was pretty good and only unrealistic in a few scenes. I will definitely watch the film again and recommend it to others. ... more

Mateo B. FIFA 22 is in my opinion the best football videogame from all. The graphic are better than over. The game hasn't many bugs, but the goalkeeper is too good. You can shoot perfectly but the goalkeeper still save the ball. The ratings of the players are good, but how can Messi be better than Ronaldo??? The mode „ultimate team“, where you can buy players and build your own team with players around the world makes a lot fun. Earning coins also makes a lot of fun. One negative point is also the loading time: Sometimes it takes minutes to get in a game. In my opinion it's worth the 70€ ... more

KIDNAPPERS WANT A SUM OF 500.000 DOLLARS

19. Mai 2019 von Sushi woof

Winnie Pooh

On Thursday afternoon, the kidnapers contacted Nelson Wainwright again. They had already called him on Wednesday and had told him that his wonderful girlfriend, Gloria Hammersmith, the famous model, had got kidnapped by them. The people who kidnapped her wanted money from her boyfriend because her parents had died years ago. The poor boy has to pay half a million dollars.

Many people were waiting in front of the millionaire's House and asked how Gloria was and when he would get her back again. Some of the people were Gloria's friends. But the boy didn't want to give us more information about the kidnapers or how Gloria was.

The money was kept in an unknown place, where nobody could find it. It is probably from his rich father... Maybe he gave it to a close friend or maybe he already gave it to the kidnapers. It could even be that he and the kidnapers are working together with Nelson and he just wants his father's money, since the father never gives much money to his son. What if there never was a kidnapping and the Wainwrights just want the attention of the public? Because the Wainwrights cooperation has lost plenty of money the last few months.
